

TALK, TEARS AND TEA

STARTING SEPTEMBER 11, 2016

Do you have someone struggling with addictions? Do you feel lost and alone?

Please join us for Talk, Tears and Tea. A circle of support for those needing help in dealing with a loved one suffering from opiates and other drug addictions. We are offering our support, experiences from the journey's we traveled while on the path of a loved one suffering. We are not professionals but we are the same as each of you. We have gone through or are still walking along side our loved ones with their addictions or their recovery. We can offer you hope, experience and hugs. We will help navigate where to turn for treatment, share resources and offer advice from our hearts.

Our circle will be a confidential group where you can talk, vent, ask questions or say what you need in order for you to begin healing. Anything said in this meeting will and must stay in this meeting. We are a no judgment safe zone.
